

Young Hitch-Hikers Robbed by Fellows

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Maurice Webber and Oliver Harlow, both 15 and of Memphis, Tenn., who set out to see the world by hitch-hiking along the Dixie highway, told county patrolmen today that they were held up by four other hitch-hikers and robbed of all their wearing apparel except their pants and blouses. They said they met the youths near Kosmosdale. Paul Smith, 18; Harlan Fieldon, 18, and John Orange, 17, were arrested by patrolmen and charged with highway robbery. Earl Howard, 15, was taken to the detention home. The boys gave their home as Livermore. Webber and Harlow were held at the detention home until their parents could be notified.

VALUE OF CHANGES STRESSED BY BOWEN

Developments as Challenges Discussed by Church Executive.

Rev. C. A. Bowen, editorial secretary of the board of Christian education of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, speaking at the summer convocation exercises of Emory University here Thursday night, discussed "some developments and their challenges."

"Who wants to live in a world where either of these elements are absent?" he asked. "To imagine a situation in which no interesting and perhaps startling developments are possible is to draw a mental picture of stagnation. To exist without an occasional spurring challenge is to pass through life on the sub-human level."

"The developments of the present chosen for our consideration are: first, an era of easy changes which threaten the permanence of our basic institutions, including those of religion; the dominance of materialism over the thinking of many of the psychologists of the present day; the undue emphasis upon humanism in the field of religion; and the tendency to sense the difficulty and complexity of the tasks with which religion concerns itself and to deal with these tasks by means of an adequate technique."

"Surely there is challenge enough in the developments which have been listed. First of all, an age of easy changes calls for a well-grounded certainty based on an intelligent apprehension of the truth of God. The dominance of materialism over much of the thinking of today in the field of psychology calls for a new flowering-out of the personal life. The tendency to over-emphasize humanism in religion can best be met in much the same way; we need men and women who are not afraid of the mystical experience.

"If Christianity is adequately to meet the demands of the present, a new technique must be created. This means careful training in specialized skills," Rev. Mr. Bowen said. "It means further the development of an administrative leadership which will insure rhythmic co-ordination within the entire organization through which Christianity functions."

State Drouth Relief Heads Will Be Called

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Hyde, chairman of the national drouth relief committee, announced today he would call a meeting of the chairmen of state drouth relief committees to convene soon in Washington for the co-ordination of relief activities.

The secretary, who left yesterday afternoon for Chicago, telegraphed his office today that a meeting of state chairmen would be called as soon as the local committees could familiarize themselves with conditions in their states.

The report of the bankers' committee yesterday was said by the secretary to outline a "helpful program." The banker members of the state committees, he said, "not only pointed out the duty of local bankers and local people generally but they undertook to supplement and augment their own resources by the formation of agricultural credit corporations in each state."

"These credit corporations," the telegram continued, "serve as intermediaries between credit base of communities and the liberal credit facilities of the federal intermediate credit system."

The combination of local banking facilities and federal intermediate credit banks will meet much of the distress," he said.

"Such distress as cannot be met in this way will be amply provided for by the Red Cross," he added.

Court Asked To Rule On Rum Car Search

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The supreme court was asked today to rule on how far federal prohibition agents lawfully can go in halting automobiles without a search warrant to look for illicit liquor.

Near Sturgis, Mich., last February, Edwin C. Kudy and Byron Langtry, were stopped by two warrantless federal agents. They were convicted of violating the prohibition law.

They contended the search was illegal but the lower federal court refused to take that view and declined to prohibit the use of the seized liquor as evidence.

Asserting the action was illegal, the two men insisted they were being deprived of their constitutional rights. The federal circuit court of appeals sustained the stopping of the automobile, and declared that the agents had received information which warranted their action, as was disclosed by sagging automobile springs and the 192 quarts of liquor found in the car.

Warm Weather Due to Remain Another Day

Atlanta's late summer temperature, which stayed on the cooler side of 90 again Thursday, is scheduled to be about the same today, with little indication of any rain before Sunday. Birmingham and Augusta continued, also, to register 90-degree temperatures Thursday as compared with 88 here. The Atlanta minimum for early Thursday morning was 72.

Floridian Selected By Exchange Clubs

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Thomas C. Imeson, city commissioner of Jacksonville, Fla., was elected president of the National Exchange Clubs in the final convention session here today.

Dr. A. A. Jenkins, Cleveland, was made first vice president, succeeding Mr. Imeson. Other officers named were: John H. Awtry, Dallas, Texas, second vice president; Lieutenant Walter Hinton, Washington, third vice president.

Robert F. Nitchie, Terre Haute, treasurer.

William H. Beck, Griffin, Ga., marshal, and Bert Beasley, Indianapolis, secretary.

The board of directors was re-elected except in two instances, Louis Kimble, Salt Lake City, replacing A. W. Watson, also of Salt Lake City, and Louis K. Gordon, Fairfield, Ala., succeeding Floyd C. Miller, Kalamazoo, Mich.

THIRD HUSBAND KILLS WOMAN ONCE ACCUSED

Man Takes Own Life After That of Woman Freed of Murder.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Accused two years ago of the slaying of her second husband, Mrs. Frances Kirkwood Van Clief, 34 years old, was shot and killed last night by her third husband, Eugene Van Clief, who then committed suicide.

This was the theory of police based on a note found after the two bodies were discovered in a Brooklyn rooming house. The note, addressed to Ida Van Clief, a daughter by a previous marriage, read:

"Please forgive me for what I have done. It is the best way out. Your dad."

The note was found in a furnished room hired by Van Clief.

Police learned Van Clief, who married Mrs. Kirkwood a year ago, recently had met financial reverses in a roadside stand he conducted. Prior to discovery of the note police were inclined to believe the woman shot the man and then took her own life.

A pistol from which four shots had been fired was found near her hand. She had a bullet wound in the right temple. Van Clief was shot in the breast and his temple had been grazed by a bullet.

The woman's second husband, Dr. Glenn Kirkwood, a veterinarian, was stabbed to death in his home in Queens. At her trial on a charge of manslaughter she said the veterinarian was killed accidentally in the struggle for the weapons with which she intended to commit suicide.

Her first husband was John A. McAvoy, a textile designer, whom she divorced.

Mencken, Bride Drop From Sight After Wedding

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28.—(AP)—H. L. Mencken, editor and critic, for years vociferous champion of bachelorhood, and his bride, who was Miss Sara Powell Haardt, of Montgomery, Ala., herself a literary figure, were on an automobile honeymoon trip today, but even their closest friends professed to be ignorant of the destination.

Canada was considered here to be their most likely objective.

The Mencken marriage took place at an Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, though it had been announced for September 3. Only members of the immediate family and a few friends were present. Absent was Mencken's literary friend of many years, George Jean Nathan, New York theater critic.

The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Herbert L. Parrish, of New Brunswick, N. J., long a friend of Mencken.

Mencken, as a newspaperman and author since the age of 19, has been engaged for three decades in keeping others in the public eye, but he and his bride were almost perfectly shielded.

LOAN CHANEY BURIED; MARINES DO HIM HONOR

Only Relatives and Close Friends See Actor Interred.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(UN)—Loan Chaney, recognized as Hollywood's greatest character actor, was buried here today.

In accordance with the actor's last wishes only his relatives and closest friends were in attendance while Chaplain H. S. Dyer, of the San Diego marine base, read a brief Episcopal service in a downtown Los Angeles chapel.

A corps of marines was present to honor Chaney, who was one of their greatest admirers and an honorary member after he made "Hell It to the Marines," a silent picture in which Chaney played a marine sergeant and became acquainted with scores of the sea soldiers.

The rites were delayed for more than a half hour when word was received that Brigadier General Smedley Butler, one of Chaney's closest friends, was expected to arrive by airplane from Philadelphia. General Butler failed to appear, however, before the chapel services were finished.

"Our was a case of mutual admiration," explained Chaplain Dyer. "Loan Chaney liked the marines and there isn't one of us who ever met him on shipboard, or elsewhere, who did not regard him as a real man, worthy of membership in the corps."

Five minutes of silence was observed by all Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stage while actors and actresses, many of whom had worked with Chaney, stood bowed heads. Other students held three minutes' silence and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer office in the world was inactive for the same length of time.

CALIFORNIA PRIMARY HOOVER'S FATE LINKED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(Special)—California's recent state primary, which saw Governor Cleveland C. Johnson defeated for re-election after pledging himself to support the candidacy of President Hoover or another term in 1932, has left political Washington wondering whether Senator Hiram Johnson played any part in the apparent administration setback.

Governor Young, seeking re-election as a dry and Hoover supporter, ran second in a three-cornered race against Burton Pitts, Los Angeles district attorney and Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco. Senator Johnson's home town, who was out by a margin of some 25,000 votes.

It isn't that the fiery Johnson injected himself into the campaign openly for or against any of the three candidates. Long a dominant figure in California republican affairs, he is being charged with "letting down" Governor Young, who heretofore has been catalogued as one of his chief lieutenants. The reason assigned is Young's action in linking his candidacy with the Hoover second term.

Although Senator Johnson is known to have been closely in touch with the California political situation for months, he somehow failed to give endorsements to the Young campaign which were said to have been much desired by the retiring governor. He chose to look upon the contest as a local affair, one that called for no interference on his part. Many of his organization leaders were listed as attached to the Young campaign, but according to the criticism that is now being voiced in the ranks of the defeated state executive, they did not allow themselves to become enthusiastic to the point of "tearing any shirts."

A word or two of open support from Johnson during the last few days of the campaign would have been sufficient to cut down Rolph's heavy vote in San Francisco enough for Young to have won, it is being said. It was in San Francisco, a Johnson stronghold, that Rolph got a large part of his vote. Running as a wet against two dries he would not have been nominated but for this support. The stories coming out of the Pacific coast state are all the more interesting in view of the known relations between Senator Johnson and President Hoover. The former has never been regarded as a Hoover enthusiast. In 1928 he was persuaded to sit by and see Mr. Hoover nominated, without opposition within the state only because Rolph's machine himself was up for re-election that year. It was a case of leave Hoover alone or face opposition himself. He chose to return to the senate by the easier course.

After Hoover's Scalp. Since Mr. Hoover moved to the White House he has been credited with anything but an administration seat. A number of instances might be cited where he has been actively identified with the senatorial group that is obviously anxious to get the president's political scalp but the most recent will suffice. He was the head and horns of the fight against the Tamm court, which was a matter of special session following passage of the long debated tariff act. Under the California primary system Mayor Rolph will receive the republican gubernatorial nomination even though he failed of a majority. The nomination being equivalent to election, this means that he will be in the chair of the state machinery when the time rolls around for the selection of delegates to the next republican convention. All of which has caused political circles here to ponder over the possible attitude of the Johnson-Rolph machine on the proposition of a Hoover second term.

The letter was written in reference to a report being prepared by the syndicate managers on the banks and their bonds, an advance copy of which was sent to Mr. Mellon. The banking group includes Alexander Brown and Sons, Harris, Forbes & Co., Lee Higginson & Co., Brown Brothers & Co., the National City Company and the Guaranty Company, as syndicate managers. Mr. Mellon writes that the report, reviewing the land bank situation after 13 years, is appropriate, and "timely in view of the current discussion of adverse agricultural conditions, and also should be helpful to relieve much of the misinformation that has been circulated recently with respect to these banks and their securities, and which undoubtedly has retarded and therefore disturbed some investors."

He explains that the drought situation is temporary and confined to certain circumscribed areas, and the diversity of conditions that exist in the great expanse of the country's territory is an element of strength in the land banks. "The federal land banks are permanent institutions, designed to function in good times and bad," he continues. "They constitute a great mutual aid and co-operative organization that covers the entire country and each bank, in addition to being primarily liable for its own bonds, is liable, under the conditions stated in the law, for the principal of, and interest on, the farm loan bonds issued by all the other federal land banks."

"These bonds issued by the federal land banks constitute a sound, tax-free security, and investors should not be disturbed by false or misleading information. The achievements and service of the system have demonstrated its fundamental soundness and usefulness."

RACE FOR GOVERNOR HOLDS CAROLINA EYES

Johnston, Blackwood Runoff for Honor Seems Assured.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 28.—(P)—Solicitor Ibra C. Blackwood, of Spartanburg, appeared assured of a place in the second primary for governor against Olin D. Johnston, his fellow townsman, on the basis of nearly complete unofficial returns tabulated here tonight.

Johnston, who led the field of eight, pushed his total to 55,392. Blackwood held an edge of about 3,300 votes over A. Frank Lever, former congressman, and with only 66 boxes unreported, many of them small, it was not believed Lever could overcome this lead.

The vote: Blackwood 40,932; Lever 37,545. Senator Cole L. Bleas increased his margin over former Congressman James F. Byrnes and Leon W. Harris for the senatorial nomination. He and Byrnes will be in a run-off primary September 9, a return engagement for the South Carolina electorate.

Viewed All-Local. The three prisoners were Jack Murphy, 38, and James Reilly, 25, of Hazleton, and Joseph Carre, 45, of Cranberry. They were arrested by federal raiders who took possession of a 1,000-gallon still located in a garage near Hazleton. They were to be taken before a United States commissioner today for hearings.

Since Mr. Hoover moved to the White House he has been credited with anything but an administration seat. A number of instances might be cited where he has been actively identified with the senatorial group that is obviously anxious to get the president's political scalp but the most recent will suffice. He was the head and horns of the fight against the Tamm court, which was a matter of special session following passage of the long debated tariff act. Under the California primary system Mayor Rolph will receive the republican gubernatorial nomination even though he failed of a majority. The nomination being equivalent to election, this means that he will be in the chair of the state machinery when the time rolls around for the selection of delegates to the next republican convention. All of which has caused political circles here to ponder over the possible attitude of the Johnson-Rolph machine on the proposition of a Hoover second term.

The letter was written in reference to a report being prepared by the syndicate managers on the banks and their bonds, an advance copy of which was sent to Mr. Mellon. The banking group includes Alexander Brown and Sons, Harris, Forbes & Co., Lee Higginson & Co., Brown Brothers & Co., the National City Company and the Guaranty Company, as syndicate managers. Mr. Mellon writes that the report, reviewing the land bank situation after 13 years, is appropriate, and "timely in view of the current discussion of adverse agricultural conditions, and also should be helpful to relieve much of the misinformation that has been circulated recently with respect to these banks and their securities, and which undoubtedly has retarded and therefore disturbed some investors."

He explains that the drought situation is temporary and confined to certain circumscribed areas, and the diversity of conditions that exist in the great expanse of the country's territory is an element of strength in the land banks. "The federal land banks are permanent institutions, designed to function in good times and bad," he continues. "They constitute a great mutual aid and co-operative organization that covers the entire country and each bank, in addition to being primarily liable for its own bonds, is liable, under the conditions stated in the law, for the principal of, and interest on, the farm loan bonds issued by all the other federal land banks."

"These bonds issued by the federal land banks constitute a sound, tax-free security, and investors should not be disturbed by false or misleading information. The achievements and service of the system have demonstrated its fundamental soundness and usefulness."

Hope, of the state department of education, had an apparently clean majority of about 5,000 votes over his two opponents, J. H. Swearingen and M. M. Wilkes, on the face of returns available late today. At one time, the indications were a second primary would be required to elect the nominee for this office.

Armed Friends Free Three From Prison

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 28.—(P)—City hall was visited today by two young men, who thrust pistols against the head of Desk Sergeant Joseph Marinko, who was alone at the time, and forced him to liberate three men arrested in a moonshine plant last night.

When the prisoners were freed, Marinko was locked in the cell and the five fled. The three prisoners were Jack Murphy, 38, and James Reilly, 25, of Hazleton, and Joseph Carre, 45, of Cranberry. They were arrested by federal raiders who took possession of a 1,000-gallon still located in a garage near Hazleton. They were to be taken before a United States commissioner today for hearings.

Tennessee Youth Is Shot to Death

GREENVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 28.—(P)—Tel Cutsaw, 17, was shot to death at the home of his mother in the Paint Creek section of Greene county, 18 miles beyond this city tonight. Boney Shelton, accused of shooting the young man, was shot twice, once through the hip and again in the right foot. He is under guard at Johnson city hospital. Dan Shelton, relative of Boney, accused of abetting the shooting, is in the county jail here. Few details of the tragedy have been learned here, the district in which it occurred being a very remote and mountainous section of the country.

Increasing of Tourist Travel Discussed at Meeting Here

37 Representatives of Southern Cities Gather. Advertising Campaign in Florida Is Indorsed.

Thirty-seven representatives of cities on U. S. Highways 41 and 19, points from Chattanooga and Murphy, through Atlanta, to Valdosta, attended a meeting at the Atlanta Convention Bureau Thursday to devise means of increasing the tourist travel over those routes. William Candler, of Atlanta, was elected chairman of the meeting and F. H. Spivey, of Griffin, secretary. The morning was spent in a discussion of the possibilities of tourist trade and its benefits, with the result that the meeting unanimously indorsed a tentative advertising campaign of $10,000 to be spent in Florida this winter to attract tourists to this section. W. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, presented the advertising program, prefacing it with the statement that, according to United States department of commerce figures, tourists and vacationists in the United States spend six and one-half billion dollars annually. "Five billions of this is spent in the United States, so that Georgia has a prospect that is spending an enormous sum annually," he said. "Savings deposits in national banks on March 29, 1930, showed an increase of two hundred and eight million dollars over December 31, 1929, an increase of eighty millions over December 31, 1929, so we have every reason to believe that tourist business this year will be as good as last."

685,156 Tourist Visitors. According to Mr. Hastings, figures from the Atlanta Motor Club and late highway officials indicate there were 685,156 tourists in Georgia last year, excluding train travel. "The majority of these people were headed for Florida as fast as our roads would enable them to get there," he declared, "so they stayed a day or less in Georgia. Inasmuch as their minimum daily expenditure is $10, it is clear that by increasing their stay to a week instead of a day we would add to Georgia's business $47,000,000 in cash. The value of Georgia's tobacco, oats, peaches, watermelons, hay, pecans, commercial truck and wheat in 1929 was $45,613,000; the 1929 corn crop amounted to $44,309,000. It is clear from these figures that by increasing the stay of tourists who pass through Georgia from one day to one week we would augment the state's business by a cash figure in excess of the total value of our 1929 small crops—greater than the 1929 corn crop. If we can increase by 10 per cent the tourist business that came over Highways 41 and 19 last year, we would add more than a half-million dollars in cash to the towns served by these routes."

Interest in Advertising. Much enthusiasm was manifested in the possibilities of an advertising campaign for the state as a whole, in addition to the smaller program adopted for the highways named. Resolutions were adopted authorizing Chairman Candler to call a later meeting to set up an organization to provide means of advertising Georgia to tourists, to which he was requested to invite business leaders from all over the state. Those who attended the meeting were J. W. McMillan, Sid Pendley, C. W. Bailey, of Murphy, N. C.; J. W. Myers, Tifton; F. N. Easley, Dalton; Sam A. Nun, J. J. Rooney, H. P. Houser, W. E. Swanson, of Perry; J. Howell Green, Jr., W. F. Elkin, Jr., Congressman Robert Ramspeck, W. F. Marbut, Decatur; U. T. Winsett, J. H. Ellis, Lem T. James, of Macon; George H. Wartman, John A. Murkin, Chattanooga; Mrs. Mark Temple, Marietta; J. J. Shott, Perry; W. H. Barnwell, William Candler, Fred Houser, Hugh Osborn, W. G. Hastings, L. O. Moseley, John A. Dunwoody, R. R. Whitman, Harry F. Zoebel, Charlie Cook, J. H. Lambert, of Atlanta; H. N. Mitchell, Macon; C. F. Redden, Sea Island Beach; J. H. Carmichael, Jr., Valdosta; F. H. Spivey, Griffin, and T. O. Galloway, of Burnsville.

Following the meeting the visitors were guests of the Atlanta Convention Bureau at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel.

27 Left Homeless As Six Houses Burn
A fire, thought to have been caused by the explosion of a lamp in the home of F. Daniel, of 22 Main street, early Thursday morning destroyed six homes in one block of Egan Park and left 27 people homeless before it could be brought under control by the East Point fire department.

Originating in the Daniel home, the flames spread rapidly, and in a few moments the entire row of houses in one block was afire. The neighborhood, aroused, helped firemen combat the flames. The six families escaped without injury.

ECONOMY IS KEYNOTE IN CHEST OPERATION

T. Guy Woolford Lays Stress On Principles To Be Followed.

Pledge of operation of Atlanta's welfare societies according to rigid principles of business efficiency, with economy of funds and effort emphasized, was made Thursday by a group of prominent businessmen who comprise the budget committee of the Atlanta Community Chest.

Members of the group include T. C. Law, W. D. Hoffman, W. T. Perkins, T. Guy Woolford, L. H. Moss, J. P. Faulkner, Milton W. Bell and E. A. Thorndell.

Survey Half Completed.
Volunteer workers who give many hours each week to the task, the committee members announced Thursday they had completed about half the survey necessary for calculation of the amount which Atlanta people will be asked this fall to contribute for support of the 39 agencies of human helplessness operating through the Chest.

"This important work is carried on by a group of persons who give their time and thought voluntarily to aid the cause of the societies in the Chest," said Mr. Woolford, acting chairman of the committee. "They are also liberal contributors to the Chest fund. It is due to the vast amount of volunteer service before, during and after the campaign that the fund pledged and collected can be administered at a low cost."

Methods of the committee, by which the Atlanta public is assured efficient organization of its charities and the highest return for its charity dollar, were outlined by Mr. Woolford as follows:

Data Compiled.
"The societies in the Chest are required to make statements of itemized expenditures and all sources of income, together with a review of the actual welfare service performed, the number of persons served, and the relation of their programs to the community and to other societies."

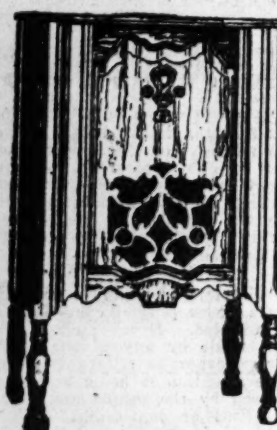

"On the basis of these reports, the financial requests of the societies for the year 1931 are considered, and an estimate of the real needs agreed upon. When these figures are finally compiled, the budget committee and the executive committee of the Chest will formulate recommendations to the board of directors, which is empowered to pass on the budgets and to distribute the fund collected this fall in accordance with the actual needs of the societies."

LINDY, AT AIR RACES HINTS HIS RACING OVER

Willing To Let Hawks Keep Record, Says Flying Colonel.

CURTIS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(P)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew to the national air races with Mrs. Lindbergh today, indicated that his days of flying to break records have ended.

Asked if he would attempt to regain the west-east transcontinental flight, recently wrested from him by Captain Frank Hawks, Colonel Lindbergh smiled, hesitated for a minute, then replied:

"I believe I am content to let Captain Hawks' record stand. It was a brilliant flight he made, and it will probably be a record for a long time."

When the colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh soared over the airport after a flight of 135 minutes from Indianapolis, Captain Hawks was roaring around the five-mile course in his fast racing monoplane. The Lindberghs were flying the monoplane in which they took the west-east transcontinental record and Hawks' craft was the one in which he broke the Lindberghs' record. It was the first time the ships have been on the same field together.

"I've already congratulated Captain Hawks on breaking our record," said Lindbergh, "but I'm eager to meet him and talk it over."

After he and Mrs. Lindbergh had been led to the judging box high above the stands, the colonel gazed out over a field containing hundreds of airplanes and stands holding some 40,000 air race fans, then enthusiastically exclaimed:

"It's a great air meet—one that should develop great improvements and invaluable refinements in heavier-than-aircraft."

Lindbergh grinned broadly when asked about Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

"The baby's fine, thank you very much," he announced.

The Lindberghs plan to fly to Detroit tomorrow afternoon. They will stop in Detroit on business, then fly back to New York.

Colonel Lindbergh referred to the accidental spilling of gasoline from a tank in his plane when he landed in Indianapolis en route to Chicago as a "mere incident" which endangered neither him nor his plane.

12-Year-Old Boy Is Out for Record As Crash Victim

With the entire country going endurance contest wild, little Bill Tucker, 12, of 490 Waldo street, is thinking seriously of going in for the record of being run over by automobiles, for Thursday night he added the fifth case of knockdown to a record started unintentionally nine months ago, and the second to occur within two days.

For the fifth knock-down a fire truck furnished the power, and Bill was struck from his bicycle on Burns street, near Waldo. He was hit by the rear of a truck from engine company No. 10, driven by Fireman R. W. Kirk. The truck was returning from a call to quell a grass fire on Burns street, and Lieutenant J. H. Corbett, in charge, rushed the boy to Grady hospital, where he was treated for minor cuts and bruises and allowed to return home.

This was the second time he had been hit by a motor vehicle in two days, having been knocked down Wednesday on Confederate avenue by an automobile. It made the fifth time in nine months that the boy had been hit. He told reporters that he was "about to get used to it."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—(P)—Mayor James (Sunny Jim) Rolph, Jr., republican nominee for governor, is a man with many medals, acquired mostly from foreign dignitaries he has welcomed here.

His cheery greetings and farewells have not been for the dignitaries alone, the mayor's friends say, but for the obscure and humble as well.

His honor has achieved the reputation of delighting in the role of Haroun Al Raschid. With a friend or two he has been known to wander about the city at night, watching the people at play. Often he appears without notice at hospitals to cheer the patients.

It is his custom to gather a car full of working men and women and give them a ride down town.

During his campaign, financed by a group of friends, Rolph flew 20,000 miles to visit all of the state's 58 counties.

The nominee was born 61 years ago in San Francisco's mission district and he never moved out of it. He always felt that if it was good enough for his parents, it was good enough for him. And his home is a place where neighbors drop in just like "folks."

His recreation he takes at his ranch south of San Francisco—when he takes it.

Ten-Day Conference Opened by Adventists

"We are not looking for Jesus to come tonight at midnight, nor tomorrow night at midnight; but we do believe that He is coming soon," declared Professor W. R. French, of Washington Missionary college, Thursday night in the opening address of the 10-day Bible conference of Seventh Day Adventists at the campground on the corner of Whiteford and Boulevard to a capacity crowd.

The fast fulfilling prophecy of Christ and other Bible prophets in the political, social, industrial, physical and religious world, according to the opinion of the professor, is an unmistakable evidence that this event is imminent.

"Seven Day Adventists believe in a material religion," the speaker continued. He reiterated that the advent of Jesus will be a literal, personal and material event. With numerous texts of Scripture the speaker verified his position.

Free 33 Years, Man Faces Prison Return

EL RENO, Okla., Aug. 28.—(P)—Joseph R. Atkins, believed to be the John R. Atkins who escaped from the Canadian county jail here in 1897 after being sentenced to life imprisonment for murder, probably will be returned here from California to serve his term in the state penitentiary which he has eluded for 33 years.

Atkins was arrested yesterday in Los Angeles, but denied he was Atkins. He said he would resist extradition to Oklahoma. Los Angeles detectives, who declared Atkins was the convicted murderer of August Counts, Oklahoma rancher, said Harry Atkins, brother of the suspect, reported to them his brother threatened him as the result of a misunderstanding regarding the estate of their father, John M. Atkins, who died two months ago. He was arrested at a construction office where he worked.

Atkins, then a 10-year-old cowboy, escaped from the felony jail here December 9, 1897, the day before he was to be taken to the penitentiary. Counts, a Custer county rancher, was slain October 20, 1897, during a cattle range dispute.

Thompson Re-elected
Y.M.C.A. Club Leader

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Aug. 28.—(P)—Newton W. Thompson, of Belleville, Ontario, international president of the Y. M. C. A. Men's Clubs, was re-elected for another term at the closing sessions of the ninth international convention here today.

Richard H. McCleery, of Washington, Iowa, chairman of the publicity committee for the convention, was elected first vice president. Second and third vice presidents elected were Fay Rowley, of Birmingham, N. Y., and Samuel Frazin, of Denver, Col.

Henry D. Grimes, international secretary-treasurer, was selected for another term in that office. He is a resident of Lawrence, Mass.

Harold Davis, of Wilkes Barre, Alfred H. Mills, of Knoxville, district governor of the Eastern Division, of Sherbrooke, Que., and Edgar J. McCoy, of Canton, Ohio, were named as directors for two-year terms.

It was announced that the three cities suggested for the 1931 convention—St. Paul, Minn.; Little Rock, Ark., and Cleveland, Ohio—would be considered and possibilities investigated by the directors before a definite decision was reached.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(P)—Secretary Hurley announced today the appointment of William Pierce O'Neal, vice president of the Canal Bank and Trust Company of New Orleans, to the advisory board of the Inland Waterways Corporation, filling the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of M. J. Sanders, also of New Orleans.

NEW FAIR-AIKEN HUNT ALONG RIVER FUTILE

Deputy Hardy's Force Scours
Section for Escapes in Vain.

Another hot tip on Fred D. Fair and Sam F. Aiken, escaped condemned slayers, availed nothing Thursday, though a cordon of sheriff's deputies and county policemen under Deputy J. Gordon Hardy spent most of the afternoon scouring the wooded area about the Chattahoochee river near the Marietta road.

Hardy and four other deputies and five county policemen left the courthouse hurriedly shortly after noon without announcing their destination, and did not return until nearly nightfall. On their return the deputy said the sheriff's office had received information that Fair and Aiken were in hiding along the river. A thorough search of the section, however, failed to reveal any trace of them, he said.

The two slayers, both of whom were awaiting execution, saved their way out of the Fulton tower a week ago Thursday night.

Chief Jailor Robert Holland Thursday reported that a prisoner at the tower had given him information regarding the escape of Fair and Aiken. This prisoner, whose name Holland would not reveal, informed him, Holland said, that two men had stood guard on the outer wall of the tower the night the condemned pair escaped and helped them over the wall after they had sawed their way into the jailyard through the bars of Fair's cell and a window leading into the yard.

Holland, who had returned from New Orleans, where he sought Aiken and Fair, took the opportunity to deplore conditions at the tower. The jail, 38 years old, is inadequate for the needs of the county, in sad need of repair and almost wholly unfit for the purpose it serves, he said.

Ship Blown Up.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Aug. 28.—(P)—Three explosions of undetermined origin, at 10-minute intervals, early today destroyed the Island Queen, a $15,000 40-ton boat anchored in the Waukegan harbor. It was owned by Frank Recke, of Chicago. No explanation has been offered.

German Fliers Long to View Niagara Falls

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(P)—The sturdy trans-Atlantic flying boat, the Dornier-Wal, was being groomed today for a holiday jaunt to Niagara Falls, the national air races at Chicago and the James Gordon Bennett balloon race at Cleveland.

Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau and his crew of three planned to take off tomorrow morning for Buffalo. They said their trip to this country would not have been complete unless they saw Niagara Falls.

They expect to leave Buffalo for Chicago, where they will remain over the week-end. They planned to fly over the Curtiss-Reynolds airport, where the national air races are in progress and land in Lake Michigan. On Monday they planned to go to Cleveland for the national balloon race.

They expect to remain in the United States about two weeks, but just how they will return to Germany still is undecided.

An official reception at city hall featured today's program.

Former Scranton Mayor Sentenced

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 28.—(UN)— E. B. Jermyn, twice mayor of Scranton, faced tonight a prison sentence of one year in the Lackawanna county jail and a fine of $500 for his implication in the "slot machine racket" which involved about 130 city and county officials.

This sentence was given Jermyn today by Judge George E. Maxey, who gave a similar punishment to Perry J. Friend, cousin of the former city executive and former city civil service commissioner. Execution of both sentences was postponed until Monday pending an appeal by the convicted men to the superior court.

Fire Department Uncovers Big Still in at 299 West Alexander street at covered in a vacant house located at extinguishers, the firemen, instituting a search of the premises, discovered approximately 120 gallons of beer, three gallons of whiskey and a quantity of sugar, evidently intended for use in manufacturing the beverages.

Two men, loitering near the scene, were arrested on suspicion and afterwards released for lack of evidence.

When you change your oil Remember TIMES CHANGE

Cars have changed . . . high compression motors, smaller cylinders, faster speeds, more revolutions per minute. And greater strain on your motor calls for tougher, longer-life motor oil. PAN-AM is first to bring it to you. A new triple-refined motor oil . . . new but already tested for over a million gruelling miles.

Hundreds of stock cars, lubricated with new PAN-AM motor oils, were driven in extremes of heat and cold. Every test gave proof that PAN-AM is today's motor oil . . . stands up under fire . . . fights heat and friction.

Triple-refining has removed impurities that stiffen up in cold motors. Triple-refining brings you a motor oil that cuts carbon in half and gives you extra mileage for every quart.

Prove it yourself in your motor. Drive to the nearest PAN-AM station today to have your oil changed. And remember times change . . . modern motors make terrific demands on motor oils . . . and PAN-AM keeps pace.

A MILLION MILES OF ROAD TESTS

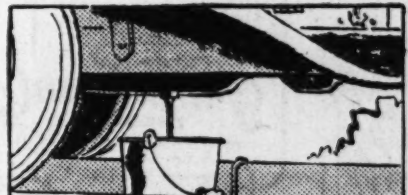

Through Cold

Down to zero and below. PAN-AM gave instant, smooth lubrication. Many motor oils thicken at freezing temperatures. PAN-AM's triple-refining process removes wax-like particles. No matter how cold, PAN-AM motor oil answers, "Ready!"

Through Heat

Test cars driven over scorching roads. Down in the motor . . . greater heat. Up go the revolutions per minute. Up goes the temperature of every moving part. PAN-AM "stands up under fire" at temperatures far above ordinary motor-heat.

Stands Up

The long grind is over . . . long past the life of ordinary motor oil. Rigid examination showed that PAN-AM kept its full body and color. PAN-AM motor-tested motor oil stands up like a soldier full of fight . . . and ready to "keep going."

Less Carbon

PAN-AM oils proved, in the motors, that they deposit 50% less carbon, by actual weight, than other high-class motor oils. PAN-AM means cleaner motors. Less grinding of valves. Smaller repair bills. Longer life for your motor.

Erlanger Settings Ready for Opening

Settings for the production of "Sure Fire," at the Erlanger theater next week, which marks the opening of the fall and winter season of the Erlanger Theater Players, are rapidly nearing completion under the hands of Albert H. Amend, art director of the company.

The scenery for this play, which was one of the outstanding hits of last season in New York, at the Waldorf theater, lend themselves particularly to good work. Varying from modern apartment rooms to a little home in a quiet Indiana village, they are of sufficient difference in type to provide good contrasts and to please every variety of theatergoer.

The Players, including the three new members who will make their first bows to Atlanta on Monday night, are putting the finishing touches on a performance that Director Harry McKee says is going to be finer than anything the popular organization has done before. And the demand for tickets at the box office, which is open daily from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m., promises a large and fashionable audience for the premiere of Atlanta's legitimate theater season of 1930-31.

Garbo in Surprising Role in 'Romance'

Few more surprising performances have ever been given on the talking screen than that of Greta Garbo, in the star role of "Romance" at the Fox this week. Miss Garbo, in a characterization totally different from anything she has done before, has revealed a new and utterly charming side of her personality to the thousands of her admirers who have flocked to the theater all week. There is an elusive charm and a poignant loveliness to her appearance and voice that appeals to every auditor.

On the stage, Fanchon and Marco's "Eyes" idea is scoring one of the biggest hits since these productions first came to Atlanta, while Enrico Leide's orchestra, Mel Ruick's stage band and the organ concert by Dwight Brown all have been popular parts of the large amusement quota to be found at this theater.

Dance Gathering Hits Due Here Saturday

Last week, at the annual convention of the Dancing Masters of America, held in New York, a trio of young dancers, known as the Ford Trio, proved the sensation of the event.

Next week, as featured performers in "The Toy Shop," stage presentation at the Paramount theater, the Ford trio will reveal to Atlantans the terpsichorean gifts which astonished the gathering of masters of the dance in New York.

Announcement that this trio, whose dancing is so sensational that it has been used in the world sound newsreel put out by Paramount, will appear, beginning Saturday on the Paramount stage, has caused intense interest among all lovers of the dance and theatergoers of the city. They will present, among other acrobatic and adagio dances, the number which was so sensationally received in New York.

Other famous performers in "The Toy Shop" include George Ali, known all over the world for his dog impersonation; Ray Conlin, youthful ventriloquist of vaudeville fame, and "Dimples," a child dancer of equal fame. There will, of course, also be the 12 lovely Paramount Rockets.

CANDIDATES SAY KEEP ROADS FROM POLITICS

Rivers and Perry Both Regret Highway Department Has Been Made Issue.

COVINGTON, Ga., Aug. 28.—James A. Perry, speaking here at 8:00 o'clock tonight expressed regret that the state highway department has again been made an issue in the race for governor, and said that it was just another illustration of "the political way of running the government; of dangling the bait on a long pole and slipping the idea from behind." Continuing, Mr. Perry said: "The highway department is not running for the governorship of Georgia; neither is George Carswell. The prize they are after is control of the $20,000,000 state highway fund. This is plainly proven by their past records and the controversy into which they have thrown Captain Barnett. In every state where large sums of money are being spent in highway construction there is a duplicate of the Holder-Carswell fight. A noted example is in Florida where a group of politicians is under arrest, charged with a murder conspiracy to do away with the governor in order to obtain control of the highway funds of that state. While murder has never been resorted to in Georgia to get this fund, efforts more productive and more powerful have been used from time to time, right here in Georgia. It is an enormous sum of money and the selfish, mean fingers clawing to get hold of it is enough to arouse every honest citizen of Georgia.

"If by any chance either Carswell or Holder should be elected governor we will see the general assembly waste an entire session in the confirmation of the chairman of the highway commission on account of Holder and Carswell dragging the chairmanship into this campaign for the one hope of covering up their own official past. Neither Holder nor Carswell hesitate for a single minute to let the state's business go hang while they fight along the old feud lines. But neither of these gentlemen is going to be elected. Holder may get into the run-off. The road machinery and road contracting forces that are supporting him have too much money and are too well organized to make this impossible. But Carswell is going to be badly beaten on September 10. Four weeks ago he stood a chance of getting into the run-off. But the shadow of ex-Governor Walker, paid emissary of the book publishers who furnish practically all of the text books used in the state, has been too great a handicap.

RIVERS AGREES.
HAZELHURST, Ga., Aug. 28.—Addressing an audience of voters at Hazelhurst tonight, E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, linked politics with the road building program. "You remember one time the devil took the Lord upon the mountain top," he said, "and pointed out lands of the earth and told him if he would fall down and worship him he would give him all that vast domain, and all the time the old devil didn't have a foot of land to give."

"Just as Holder is trying to lead the people in the various counties upon the mountain top and is showing them paved highways and new roads, and saying if they will vote for him for governor they will have all those roads, when he hasn't a single road he can give."

"The roads in Georgia have been peddled out in the past too much on the basis of political expediency. Carswell has been criticizing this policy, he, too, went off down the state a few days ago and promised some roads himself, when he is in the same shape as Holder is in. He is trying to give or not, because his trade is based on future supposed delivery, while he is demanding that the people deliver their votes to him in advance."

"Even if these fellows say the roads they could give, the people ought not to have to sell their votes for a highway, either past, present or future. Highways in Georgia should be built on the basis of merit and not on the basis of swapping them for votes."

Grand Jurors' Report Near In Grady Hospital Inquiry

Conditions in Institution and Health Department Subjected To Close Scrutiny by County Body.

After two months of investigating, during which scores of witnesses were heard, the Fulton grand jury is ready to make its report on conditions in the Grady hospital and city health department to Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court. Little possibility of additional indictments today was seen Thursday night. Assistant Solicitor-General E. A. Stephens, who, with Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard, has been directing the activities of the grand jury during the absence on vacation of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, was noncommittal Thursday when the matter of indictments was put to him.

Stephens Silent.
"The grand jury has heard from a large number of responsible persons of various illegalities in connection with the operation and management of the Grady, but whether or not the grand jurors shall see fit to indict I am not in a position to say," Mr. Stephens said.

It is known that a great part of the grand jury's presentments will be given over to a discussion of what the grand jurors have learned about the hospital and the city health department, its investigation into the latter already having resulted in the indictment of Dr. John G. Wilkins and Dr. S. D. Warnock.

The presentments are expected to recommend that the incoming grand jury, which will be sworn in next Monday, be directed to resume the hospital and health department inquiry and make any indictments of individuals concerned it may see fit.

Several witnesses who are to testify concerning conditions at the hospital have been subpoenaed for appearance at the final session of the present grand jury this morning. These will follow the appearance of Ed Bond and Henry Blanchard, prominent undertakers, who were heard at a special session of the grand jury Wednesday when the grand jury went into the disposal of bodies of persons who died at the hospital.

The grand jury, at its session today, will hear further from C. M. Holland, county purchasing agent, who is said to have been custodian of a fund raised among county employees to support the incumbent county commissioners in their race for re-election last May, when Chairman W. L. Gilbert, Walter C. Hendrix and Paul S. Etheridge were nominated over Dr. Dan Griffith, Alex. Whitely and Nelson T. Spratt.

The result of its investigation into the election also will be made known in the grand jury's presentments, and further investigation into it is expected to be recommended.

Before the grand jury makes its presentments, Foreman Thomas J. Lyon is expected to appoint a committee which will wait on the incoming grand jury next week to offer the recommendations and assistance of the present grand jury to those who will resume its work.

ARKANSAN KILLS WIFE, SAYS HE IS NOT SORRY

Hot Springs Man Blames Deed on Mate's Infidelity.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Clarence Stroud, 39, shot his wife to death as she slept with one of her three children and wounded his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nathan Dove, 17, early today. He was held on a first degree murder charge. Mrs. Dove was not wounded seriously.

"I am not sorry," police quoted Stroud as saying. "I did what I intended to do."

Stroud, according to officers, said he shot his wife to prevent her from divorcing him and marrying another man.

Acting Judge Charles Harmon, in municipal court, held Stroud to the Garland county grand jury without bond on a first degree murder charge.

"I will be satisfied with a life term or the electric chair," Stroud said, "if I can only find a home for our three little children."

Stroud told police his wife deserted him and paid attentions to other men. Stroud said his wife threatened him with a butcher knife several days ago and warned him to stay away.

He said he returned this morning and as he stood over his wife she awakened and said: "Honey, don't kill me."

"Yes, I'm going to kill you," Stroud said he told her, "because I love you."

He said he then fired at her, saying, "I love you," and repeating the declaration each subsequent time he fired.

Movie of an awful night.

The picture's enough to remind you of what you have been through many times. No use trying to swat mosquitoes in your bedroom. They are too clever at hiding behind the curtains. Just spray Flit before you put out the light and sleep as you deserve. No mosquito can escape Flit!

Be comfortable and safe. Keep your home insect-free. Spray Flit, which is guaranteed (or money back) to be quick-death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, roaches, bed bugs and other household insects. Yet its clean-smelling vapor is harmless to humans.

Flit kills quicker if you use the special insecticide Flit Sprayer. Insist on Flit and don't accept a substitute. Get yours today!

No Time for Promises In Opinion of Holder

CARNESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—John N. Holder, candidate for governor, addressing the voters of Franklin county here today, advocated the handling of school books by the state and their sale at cost to the public. Mr. Holder said:

"I am not in a contest with the other four candidates for governor to see who can promise most. We must keep in mind the fact that we are passing through lean years in Georgia. It is not a time to advocate radical ventures in government, or to increase appropriations. We are already in debt, and we need to get out before we launch plans for larger appropriations."

"The state, by buying books on contract and giving them at cost to the purchasers, will take a first long step towards free books, and still we will incur no big expense. We can win against the school book trust and the school lobby on a program demanding textbooks at cost of publication for our children."

Says Fiddlin' John Stumps for Harris

Hewlett A. Hall, manager of the campaign of former Governor John M. Slaton for the United States senate, gave out the following statement from Slaton headquarters Thursday:

"My friend, Hon. Nath C. Culpeper, the campaign manager of Senator Harris, has reached a stage in his efforts to re-elect the senator where some really sublime and inspired strategy is necessary to save the situation—some strategy on the order of Marshal Foch at the Marne."

"Rising to the situation, Mr. Culpeper has withdrawn Senator Harris from the stump, where his attempts to impress the people with his boasted ability have produced exactly the opposite effect."

"In place of Senator Harris, 'Fiddlin' John' Carson, the celebrated troubadour from the mountains, is now touring Georgia, singing a song about the the Frank case, accompanied by his fiddle."

"He has covered already a considerable territory, and is booked, we are informed, to appear in Macon, Columbus, Athens, Griffin, Augusta and other important points."

"If Senator Harris cannot stem the tide, maybe 'Fiddlin' John' can. We hope he will remember the words and music to his song somewhat better than Senator Harris has been able to remember the words of the speeches he has haltingly delivered."

Cheap School Books Urged by Russell

COLQUITT, Ga., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Richard B. Russell, Jr., candidate for governor, in an address here Thursday declared that one of the most important issues in this campaign is securing the furnishing of school books by the state at actual cost.

"We must break the grip of the school book trust," Mr. Russell said, and take their hands out of the pockets of the people of Georgia. Georgia should profit by the experience of other states and have the school books printed by the state at actual cost."

New Slogan Suggested In Harris Statement

Former Governor Slaton has no chance to win, according to a statement issued yesterday from Harris headquarters, in which it is suggested that a new campaign slogan might be "Slaton, Slush and Slander."

The card in part follows: "Governor Slaton makes a sorry spectacle of himself, running over the state fighting windmills, nagging and belittling Senator Harris instead of showing the people something that he has accomplished in their behalf. He hopes to win on any kind of demerit of his opponent, but has failed to this date to show any good reason why he should supplant Senator Harris."

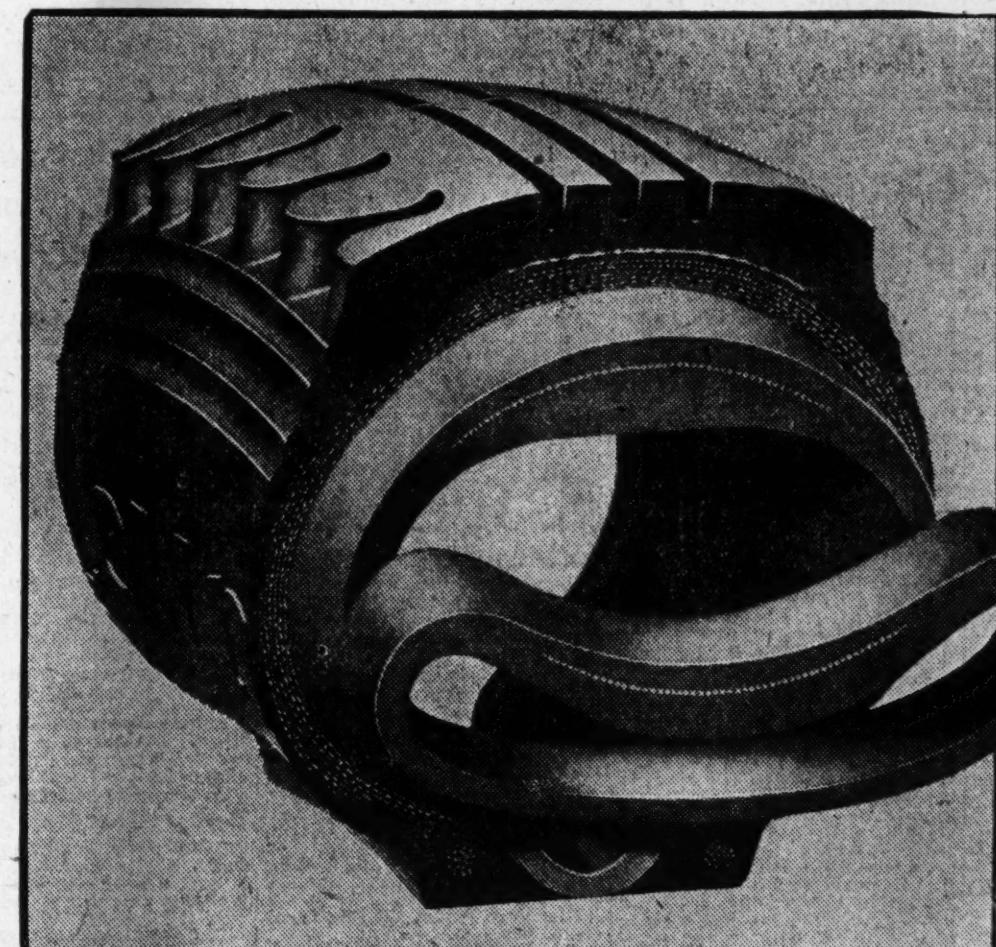

Georgia believes that Harris and George are good enough for them and will never vote to supplant these two senators with Slaton and Hardwick.

"A new slogan should now be carried everywhere during the remainder of this campaign—'Slaton, Slush and Slander.' Nobody believes the ex-governor has the ghost of a show to win the senatorship, but they all know that the ex-governor has dealt in reckless charges, misstatements and repeated efforts to deceive the public. The people of the state know that there has never been such a stream of slush funds turned loose in Georgia in the history of the present generation. Everywhere his lavish use of money is talked about, and the Slaton headquarters now have advertised appointments to speak over the state by different Atlanta lawyers. His headquarters are spending money freely and lavishly for campaign workers in different counties over the state, and the public need not be surprised at anything attempted on the eve of the election that money can accomplish."

She was tall and beautifully groomed... with that enviable savoir faire that belongs to those who have touched far shores and seen strange things. And she approached Penelope Penn's desk as if she were nearing a near and dear friend. But no flicker of recognition ruffled Penelope's expectant countenance.

"How do you do," said the visitor, extending 'her hand. "I am the 'Lady from Peru!'"

"Oh," beamed our Penelope, "how do you do. How DO you do!"

"For the past eight years," explained the lovely lady, "I have lived in Peru, where my husband is an army officer... and in all that time everything I have worn has been sent me from Rich's by the Penelope Penn bureau. Since I am far from home I can safely admit to you that I am recognized as the best-dressed woman at the Post. I want to thank you!"

For Your Daughter

Daughter of Mrs. Victor H. Call, Route 64, Box 76, San Antonio, Texas
"My daughter Kathleen is fifteen years old. For the past three years she suffered with pains as many young girls do. One day we saw an advertisement about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the San Antonio Evening News. She has been taking it regularly and is now completely relieved and able to attend school every day. You may use this letter because another woman's letter first told us about your medicine."
—Mrs. Victor H. Call.

Daughter of Mrs. Floyd Butcher, R. 12, Gridley, Kansas
"My thirteen-year-old daughter Maxine was troubled with backache and pain when she came into womanhood. I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help her because I used to take it myself at her age. Now she does not have to stay home from school, and her color is good, she eats well and does not complain of being tired. We are recommending the Vegetable Compound to other school girls who need it."
—Mrs. Floyd Butcher.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—"Silver Blaze"

Sherlock Holmes kept on musing aloud as to the police theory that seemed to point so strongly to Fitzroy Simpson as the "murderer of Straker."

"Watson," he said, "no Simpson must have put it on Silver Blaze. Then, having left the stable door open, he was leading the horse away over the moor when he was either met or overtaken by Straker. A row naturally ensued."

Holmes on the Scene

"That is the case as it appears to the police," Holmes concluded, as the train approached Tavistock and we got ready to leave. "However, I shall very quickly test the matter when I am once upon the spot. There are several points in the admirable Inspector Gregory's case against Fitzroy Simpson that need clearing up, I think."

It was late afternoon when we reached Tavistock, which lies in the middle of Dartmoor. Two gentlemen were waiting at the station—the one a tall man with curiously penetrating light blue eyes; the other a small, alert person in a frock coat. The latter was Colonel Ross, the well-known sportsman and owner of Silver Blaze; the former Inspector Gregory.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

IMPY FINDS A WONDERFUL PLACE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"It's well to put one on his own. For then he learns to stand alone."
—Old Mother Nature.

When Impy, the black Chipmunk, awoke very early in the morning, it took him a few minutes to remember where he was. Instead of being down under ground, as he always had been every morning before, his bedroom had wooden walls. Finally, it came to him how he had started out to see the Great World and how just before dark he had found a nest in a hollow post of the old fence. Impy scrambled up to the hole just above him and looked out. Jolly, round Mr. Sun was just beginning his climb up in the blue, blue sky and there was every promise that the day would be fine. Impy climbed to the top of the post and there very carefully made his toilet. When this was finished, it came to him that he was hungry; so he scrambled down to look for something to eat.

Impy stayed there for two or three days. It was a very nice place. But it didn't quite suit him. It was all right to stay in for a while, but it was no place for a regular home.

"My cousins, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and Chatterer the Red Squirrel may like wooden walls, but I don't," said Impy, talking to himself. "I like earth walls better. Yes, sir, I like earth walls better. When I get my real home, it is going to be in the ground, with a nice, long, hall leading to it and two or three nice little store-rooms opening from the hall. Anyway, I feel safe here and it is a good thing to feel safe."

So Impy used his home in the post to sleep in and rest in and to go exploring from. He felt a great deal easier when he was exploring than he would return to the post with a hole in it. It was his temporary home.

Now, that old fence was almost as good as a stone wall to run along. One day, when he was feeling unusually born, but this is finer. I'll get busy at once and get that new home started."

Miss Harris and Mr. Gaston Wed at Quiet Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Geraldine Harris and Mr. Gaston was quietly solemnized last evening at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of a few close friends, relatives and out-of-town guests at the home of Mrs. Thomas Johnson on Juniper street. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Homer Thompson, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church.

The home was artistically decorated throughout with quantities of summer flowers in pastel shades, and in the living room where the ceremony took place was an improvised altar, which was backed with tall palms. At the center of the altar was a large basket filled with Easter lilies, and on either side were placed two seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers, which cast a soft glow over the bridal setting.

Preceding the ceremony and during the reading of the nuptial vows a program of appropriate nuptial music was rendered on the piano and violin by Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Groover and Mrs. Jack Hinchshaw, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Bray, who sang several beautiful selections. As a professional the wedding ceremony was "Lohengrin" was played, and the wedding march from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was played as a recessional. During the ceremony Mrs. Bray softly sang "O Promise Me" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Lovely Bride.
The bride was given in marriage by her father, Walterman Miller Harris, of Ocilla, Ga., and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, J. W. Benson. The bride, who is of the exquisite Titian type of loveliness, was beautiful in her wedding costume of dark periwinkle blue silk lace, made with long flowing skirt, and fitted in tight at the waistline. The neck was daintily trimmed with a white chiffon yoke. Down the back of the gown were three large blue velvet bows. The sleeves were made long and tight fitting, and her slippers were of blue satin. She carried a bride's bouquet of tallisman roses, showered with lilies of the valley.

Miss Louise Phillips, of Carrollton, Ga., was the bride's maid of honor and her only attendant. She was given in a handsome fall model of green flat crepe, made princess style, with long tight-fitting sleeves and cowl neck. Her slippers were of a matching shade of green crepe. She carried a bouquet of pastel flowers, including roses, snapdragons, sweet peas and swainsons.

The ushers included Harold Hamrick and William Seaton.

Interest of art lovers throughout the city centers in the opening Monday, September 8, of the day and night classes of the art school of the High Museum of Art, of which Lewis P. Skidmore is director. Smaller classes which will be necessitated this year by limited class room space, will, it is believed, afford each student a more personally supervised course of instruction.

Free classes for children of members of the Atlanta Art Association begin at 4 o'clock Tuesday, September 9. Free classes for pupils of the Junior and senior high schools of the city, which are to be held from 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock, will be opened Saturday, September 13, at the museum.

Exhibitions of artists of note will be shown continuously throughout the winter, each to be reviewed preceding its showing at the museum.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

Sam nodded, he lifted a face twisted with grief and shame; his father pressed him closer. "The mischief of robbers harms only the body. Tell me what happened."

"It was for—the good of the institution, they explained. They had the grace to be apologetic but—many of the university's wealthy friends and patrons were offended. The alumni resented the stain I had put upon—"

Lee Ying interrupted with a sound. "It is incredible! You were innocent of all wrong."

"That mattered nothing as compared with the welfare of the college, its reputation and the good will of its supporters. Colleges must live. Innocently or otherwise I brought mine into disrepute; I am the victim of an economic necessity. I am a Chinese and a white girl. Two white girls, one a student. The very mention of such an abominable association is a scandal. Parents are threatening to withdraw their daughters as a protest against a condition which makes it possible."

"It has always existed."

"True. But these parents never dreamed that their own immaculate offspring came into actual contact with us dissolute orientals, or were exposed to our contaminating touch. Immaculate!" Sam uttered an American oath that would have shocked Lee Ying at any other time. "They admitted that I had done no wrong, no very grievous wrong, at least. They even put the blame for the Alice Hart affair where it belonged. But a principle was involved. The races must not mix, they must not come in contact outside the lecture rooms. It is repugnant to American ideas of social decency."

After a moment Lee Ying inquired: "What do you have in mind?"

"I don't know. Travel, perhaps. I can't endure any more of what I've been through."

"Very well. I had intended it to come later, but it is an education in itself. There is the story of Tang, Tang lived more than a thousand years ago; a very clever young man but he had taken many prizes. But he resented the orders of a bold and stubborn ruler and refused to live longer in a country governed by such a foolish and unreasonable tyrant."

"You are no tyrant."

"He went on a long voyage to distant parts of the world where he saw many extraordinary sights. When he returned home he was considered the wisest man in the country and resented the orders of a bold and stubborn ruler and refused to live longer in a country governed by such a foolish and unreasonable tyrant."

"The young man smiled, there was a mist in his eyes, but he shook his head gravely. "You do not wholly understand me. My indulgent father hastens to grant this wish, like every other. In his usual benevolent manner he arranges to send me in state. He makes my bed soft and tempers the winds for his son of the clouds. He sends men to fetch and carry for me. But—I must go alone and on my own feet, if I go at all. I must shoe myself and earn my bread."

Lee Ying lifted his hand and opened his eyes wider. "What? Is this to go as a pilgrim? You propose to go as a mendicant?"

"Good Heavens, no! I'll earn, not beg, my way."

"What absurdity is this?"

"I merely want to be a man."

"I would mean heat and cold and hunger and hardship—"

"Exactly!"

"—strife and misery. Pain! Deprivation! Discomfort! Danger!"

"I'd like to learn the meaning of such words. Am I a beast or an oak?"

The matter was not settled that night. It was discussed frequently in the days that followed. Sam's father was artful, he did not actually oppose the projected plan, he merely revolved it deliberately in his mind, and delayed action, trusting that time would effect a change, defeat it somehow. But he became convinced finally that Sam was sincere.

Reluctantly, inch by inch, the old man yielded; he acquiesced in full at last, but nobody knew the cost of his surrender. Having given his consent, he offered no assistance, no advice, for such was Sam's desire.

The hour of parting came. Sam appeared before his father dressed in one of his poorest suits of clothes and with a suitcase in his hand. He carried a warm overcoat and a cloth cap; nothing more. These he set down, then he tottered three times to the motionless figure in the throne-like chair at the other end of the room.

Lee Ying looked regal in his somber robe and cap.

"Is all in readiness?" the father inquired.

"It is. The ship sails at 11 o'clock tonight. I must report at 6 in order that I may be instructed in my so humble duties."

"Is it a large and seaworthy ship?"

"It is not large, but it is venerable and it has weathered many storms."

"You say it carries a cargo of cattle. Are your duties hard, my son?"

"No harder than others which my countrymen perform every day. I am to assist in the peeling of potatoes, the cleaning of dishes, the serving of food to the sailors, and such useful labors."

Disapproval flickered over the father's face. His noble son, his godling, at unworthy tasks like these. He managed to conquer his repugnance. "The prince fares forth in disguise," he said, "but he must remember his birth."

"I shall engrave your words upon the brass tablets of my memory," Sam promised.

Lee Ying choked. After a moment he rose and came forward across the polished floor and now he made no effort to conceal his emotion. Taking his son into his embrace he strained him to his heaving breast. He stood thus for a while, then in a broken voice he said:

"Go forth on your pilgrimage. I shall await your home-coming. Go now, while I can still see you."

Lee Ying listened until the elevator door had closed and until he had heard the subdued whirr of the machinery that bore Sam down into the world he wished to know. With the going of his Heaven-sent son the vigor ebbed out of the old man. Stiffly he moved to the door of his shrine and with palsied hands slid back the panel. With difficulty he lighted the joss sticks, then knelt upon the silken floor cushions. His eyes were streaming.

Sam, too, was blind as he rode down to the street level. A feeling of guilt oppressed him for he realized now how old and how lonely his father was.

When he stepped out of the elevator he would have passed a waiting figure without noticing it if it had not stirred and if he had not heard his name spoken. He was surprised to recognize Eileen Cassidy.

"Are you leaving without a goodbye to your friends?" she inquired.

"Eileen! I didn't think anybody knew I was going. I didn't know I had any friends."

"Is it true you're working your way across?"

"Yes. I'm underemployed, a scullery boy."

"And how long will you be gone?"

"I shan't come back until I've forgotten a good many things and a good many people, Eileen."

"Me?" Sam shook his head. "I won't forget you."

Almost roughly the boy inquired: "Why not? I'm nothing but a 'Chink.' We don't belong in the same street. We eat even touch fingers."

As if to disprove this Eileen reached forth a cold little hand and laid it upon his. "You're a kind of a prince to me."

She put her arms around his neck and kissed him full upon the lips. "Good-bye, Brian Boru," she whispered. "Come back as clean as you go."

Grant, Mooney Appear Certain Finalists in State Tennis Tourney

CUBS LOSE GROUND AS ROBINS BEAT GIANTS

Jeff Dickson, the Mississippi boy who made good in a big way in London, Paris and Berlin promoting boxing, dropped into Atlanta last night by plane from Jackson, Miss.

Jeff has been back home in the Delta for two weeks stuffing on fried chicken and hot biscuit, and talking with old-timers who knew him when he was a barefooted urchin around town. Jeff's arrival by plane from the coast and his departure by air for Atlanta did nothing to lessen the big effect of his visit. They will talk about Jeff's flying around over there for many a day.

Dickson told of his prowess as a trencherman around the family board with gestures distinctly European in character. He gesticulates like a Frenchman—but, shucks, the old Delta drawl is there and certain blunted vowels that occur nowhere save in the vicinity of the Father of Waters. He has acquired a European poise, but there is no way on earth to get the Mississippi mud out of his talk.

ENLISTED HERE.

Dickson came to Atlanta just before the war. He had been making motion pictures starring Alice Joyce in the heyday of her career. He happened to be here when war was declared and enlisted in the 17th engineers, a noble regiment. Dickson saw service on every front in France and was wounded at St. Mihiel.

"I was drinking a cup of coffee when shrapnel took it and part of my hand off somewhere," he explained when pressed for the story.

After the armistice, Jeff saw that boxing on the continent needed a firm American hand. It was easy to see they were dubs at the racket. Now he has Europe by the nape of the neck, through the exercise of American personality and a wartime acquaintance formed with Charley Dawes. You know Charles, of course.

OWNS PART OF PRIMO.

Dickson came to America with Pa Stribling just to visit the old homeland and to look over Primo Carnera.

Jeff is one of the syndicate that owns the Ambling Alp. He wanted to see how the giant whom he fed and clothed for six months and to whom he gave a start in the world is getting along. Incidentally he said he might take Primo home before the immigration authorities get him. Just now Jeff could make a good deal of money with him.

Dickson holds first claim on Young Stribling for European fights. If Schmeling wants to fight Strib in Berlin, Jeff will put on the show. If Strib fights Schmeling in America, he is sure that Stribling will defend his title at least once for the Mississippi boy.

SORRY, GIRLS!

It will be Ladies' Day at the ball park Friday and more than likely this writer will report the game. Fair fans may look forward to reading, if they must, a story of the game that in no way reflects on their understanding of the pastime and the timbre of their cheering.

The following letter explains this sudden change in policy: "I am only one of the thousands of feminine baseball fans who is becoming rather bored by the frequent references of the limited baseball knowledge of the ladies. There may be a few who screech every time they see a long fly, but there are a good many others who know a lot more about the game than the gentlemen who pretend to know so much. "The first time I went to a game I very innocently inquired if the 'man behind the catcher' was the shortstop. But that was years ago and I haven't been sitting along the first base line for nothing. You can get quite an education there. "Who knows but what we might get along better with a few more lady club owners?"

"Sincerely yours,"
"A LADIES' DAY PATRON."

BY THE NUMBERS.

Roland B. Parker, of Americus, Ga., writes: "I recently noted your enumeration of Georgia sports champions of the year and wonder if you have forgotten Jimmy Halverstadt, who won the junior middle Atlantic tennis title in Charlotte, etc."

The enumeration referred to concerned national champions only. It would require reams upon reams of finest white paper properly to pay tribute to Georgians who go out every day and win sports events of a sectional nature.

We are a sports loving people in this state and we do not confine it to playing roles as spectators. We play games ourselves and play them well. And as long as our youngsters keep the tradition along they will not get into serious trouble.

WORTH WAITING FOR.

Give A. W. Morrison, 144 Pine street, N. E., credit. He said nothing until he had given the matter some thought. Mr. Morrison has been analyzing Roy Riegels' reverse run and has reached a conclusion as follows:

"Here is my own private explanation of why Roy Riegels really did that anyway:

"He recovered Stumpy Thomason's fumble. Stumpy had a way of running towards his own goal for several yards in order to make the line break and all start for him, then he would side-step and outrun each would-be tackler personally.

"Riegels picked up the fumbled ball, started for Georgia Tech's goal, reasoned he was going toward the same goal Stumpy had just been headed for, turned around and kept Georgia Tech from winning the game by several touchdowns.

Seriously, that is the best explanation yet offered by anybody. "A. W." did not go off half-cocked on the matter and he got somewhere.

GRANT, MOONEY LIKELY TO PLAY FOR NET TITLE

Reese Springs Another Upset as Semi-Finals Are Reached.

By Roy White.

It became more apparent that Brian Grant and Jack Mooney would stage another of their usual battles for the Georgia state tennis crown when the tourney reached the semi-finals yesterday with the two stars in opposite brackets.

Billy Reese and Al Halverstadt were the other two players in the running. Both of them won their way by surprising victories.

Billy Reese came through with a win over Jimmy Halverstadt, third seeded player, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3.

It was the first time Reese had ever beaten Jimmy Halverstadt, though the two youngsters have been meeting in the finals of boys' and junior tournaments for five years.

Al Halverstadt, brother of Jimmy, rests in the other place of the semi-final round by virtue of an upsetting defeat of Ralph DeMott, fifth seeded player. Halverstadt took the first set, 6-2, dropped the second in short order, 0-6, and smashed to a win in the third, 6-3.

MATCHES TODAY.

Bryan Grant plays Billy Reese today, and Jack Mooney meets Al Halverstadt. Grant and Mooney are favored to win.

Grant came through yesterday with a victory over the veteran, Jack Simpson, 6-0, 7-5. Simpson had earlier in the day beaten Billy Armstrong to gain the quarter-finals by the score of 6-0, 3-6, 6-4. Only the last set was played yesterday, the other two having been played Wednesday.

Jack Mooney won to the semi-finals by chopping down Lenor Wright, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

FAVORITES WIN.

All favorites and seeded players came through with victories in the junior and boys' tournaments for Thursday's play.

Semi-final matches in the boys' singles and quarter-final play in the junior singles will start at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Doubles in both the boys' and juniors' will be played immediately after the singles matches are over.

Semi-final rounds in the men's singles, bringing together Grant, present champion, and Billy Reese, a dark horse, and Al Halverstadt and Jack Mooney, will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

WOMEN PLAY AT 3.

The women's singles also are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock and in both the men's and women's play will be played late this afternoon. Some of the men's doubles matches are running behind scheduled because of several late matches Wednesday and the congestion yesterday. An effort will be made to run the doubles matches into the semi-final round today.

One of the features of Thursday's play was a doubles match between Simpson and DeMott, and Rex Godwin, of Atlanta, and Tarr Bell, two Anniston, Ala., youngsters. Neither of the youngsters weighed more than 130 pounds and was less than 5 feet tall. They are also entered in the boys' and junior events. Simpson and DeMott won the match, 6-0, 6-1. The

Baker Is Kayoed By Stiles Attaway

Stiles Attaway knocked out Harley Baker in the fourth round of the first bout as the main feature of the first of a series of open-air fight cards at Fort McPherson last night.

A large crowd turned out for the night's entertainment, which was promoted by Lieutenant E. C. Mack, athletic officer at the fort. Mack announced that the next fight card will be held on September 11.

Attaway, an Atlanta middleweight, had a slight edge on Baker, from Kentucky, up to the final blow. He had popped his left hand at the soldier's face consistently.

The knock-out came after about a minute of fighting in the fourth round. They were milling about in Baker's corner, when Attaway caught Baker a left clip on the head which sent him down, half on the ropes, for the count.

Attaway was suffering from a severe rising on his right forearm during the scrap.

Ted Goodrich was in the ring as referee for the first three prelims, and was given a big hand by the crowd.

In the semi-windup, Battling Bohannon won a decision over Ten Ton Holt. Paul Martin beat Young Trovbridge in a fast match, and Battling Maddox outpointed Russell Tarpley, the "fighting Chink."

When the two fighting cooks from the fort, Big Bad Bold Bill Bizzell and Andrew Brannon, tangled up, the result was a slam-bang knock-out, with Bizzell doing the knocking-out, in the third round. Young Ferguson outpointed Luke Jones in the opening bout of the evening.

Sammy Hale Goes To Portland Club

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28.—(AP) The Portland club of the Pacific Coast league announced today the outright purchase of Sammy Hale, veteran third baseman, from the St. Louis Browns. Hale will report immediately.

Jeff Dickson Hops Here for Reunion

Jeff Dickson, the Mississippi boy who is called "The Tex Rickard" of European boxing, landed at Candler airport yesterday by plane from Jackson, Miss., where he has been visiting his parents. Dickson once lived in Atlanta and spent last night meeting old friends. He leaves today by train for Atlantic City where he will see Primo Carnera, the giant Italian, who will fight him after a conf. once in New York with Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling relative to bouts for the championship that he will promote on the continent. Dickson will sail for his London home September 6. Dickson hopes to stage the world's championship fight between Schmeling and Young Stribling in Berlin.

CRACKERS LOSE DOUBLEHEADER TO LITTLE ROCK

Travelers Win Opener, 5-1, and Take Night-cap, 8 to 6.

By Ed Danforth.

Little Rock made threatening motions toward pulling the Crackers out of first division yesterday when their hustling ball club won a double-header here.

The score in the first game was 5 to 1, a triumph for the pitching of Jimmy Moore and a gain to Climax Blethen, who was not as bad as the score indicated.

The second game was lost, 8 to 6, when the Travelers stormed the left-handed delivery of Bunney Head for six runs before he could be yanked out of the way.

The day might have been a total loss for a home fan's standpoint but for two occurrences. One was the first battle between two small boys you ever saw. They tied up in the free seats allotted them. They fought all the way down the aisle. They rolled over the parapet and down on the field. They were fighting their way over toward the right field foul line amid wild cries from the spectators when the umpires suspended the ball game. Umpires "Andsome" Harry Campbell and "Scamboat" Johnson afterward explained that the fight was better than the ball game and they wanted to see it. So did the fans. A calous cap broke up the duel and called it a draw. Both boys were more than willing to continue.

The other was the work of young Amos Martin, former Oglethorpe star and buddy of Luke Appling, who played a few innings at third base. Amos hit a double on his first trip to the plate that drove in two runs but had no fielding chances. He runs bases like a streak and generally looks like money from home.

Martin came to the Crackers recently under the rookie rule which permits the addition of two Class B men for the last 30 days of the campaign. He was with Carrollton when that club blew up.

All he needs seems to be experience. For instance in the seventh inning, Jack Sheehan took a deep hit ball and the last 30 days of the campaign. He was with Carrollton when that club blew up.

There is no doubt as to whether the subject, as I have heard him in the drawing rooms of Pullman cars going to and coming from football games, he will startle some of the boys who have thought that they were doing some excellent work out there on the striped gridiron.

Mr. Harbage speaks caustically. He has been particularly dumb in handling games Mr. Harbage has been known to peel the varnish right off the Pullman walls with his hand.

If he is in form the officials will hear something. Mr. Ed Danforth, sports editor of The Constitution, will speak on "Officiating From the Press Box."

There is some doubt as to whether the officials were seeking to deliver a rebuke to the football writers with that subject or not. They complain often about officiating from the press box.

Nevertheless, the football writers will be depending on Mr. Danforth in a whole-hearted fashion. The football writers have seen so many officials, the coy kind, the dominating type, the sort who think the spectators paid to see them work; the timid sort and the plain ignorant kind, that they have quite a few opinions on the subject.

Somehow Mr. Harbage and Mr. Danforth remain the chief hopes for constructive results in the meetings.

Mr. W. A. Alexander, of the Flats, and Your Uncle Dan McGugin, of Nashville, are on the program. They, however, are such impeccably polite men that there isn't much hope of anything helpful from them.

Mr. Earl Dunlap, the Tech football captain, is also on the program, but then Mr. Dunlap has been schooled in the school of reticence and is not expected to get beneath the epidermis of the officials.

Mr. Harbage and Mr. Danforth are products of the modern school of free and untrammeled speech and may be depended upon.

Sultan Is Worried

THE BABE

This season of bigger and better home runs has the Babe worried. Hack Wilson, famous Chicago Cub slugger, is riding high with a total of 44 home runs—a new National League record—and is tied with Ruth. The Babe usually is able to pull away from his rivals but this season it looks as if they are ready for fight to the last ditch for home run honors. The old boy had better step out if he is to hold his laurels.

Grid Officials To Get An Earful at Meeting

Too Many Polite People on Program, But Harbage and Danforth Should Help Some.

By Ralph McGill.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the football officials, who will gather here on September 21 in a sort of convention, have developed ears which resemble those of the old-fashioned cornucopia which grandmas used to put lamp lighters in.

Because those boys are going to get an earful. It is a pity that there are so many polite people on the program. There are enough on the card who will speak their minds to cause the cartilaginous flaps protecting the entrance to the auditory canal to wail back and forth in the oratorical breeze. But the officials could stand some more.

There is, for instance, Mr. Lewie Harbage, backfield coach of the Vanderbilt Commodores. Mr. Harbage will speak on the subject, "What Coaches Expect from the Referee."

Mr. Harbage has always expected plenty. And got less. If Mr. Harbage really wants to see his subject, as I have heard him in the drawing rooms of Pullman cars going to and coming from football games, he will startle some of the boys who have thought that they were doing some excellent work out there on the striped gridiron.

DODGERS TAKE SECOND PLACE, CARDINALS GAIN

St. Louis Battles 20 Innings To Down Leaders, 8 to 7.

By Associated Press.

The triumphs of the two lower-ranking teams in the National league brought about more complications in the standing of the pennant contenders. Brooklyn, by taking its second straight from New York, 8 to 7, moved into second place, a half game ahead of the Giants.

The St. Louis Cardinals, by beating Chicago's Cubs by the same score in their 20-inning struggle, left the leaders only five games ahead of the Robins, while the Cards gained a virtual tie with the Giants for third place. The Giants led by only one point while both are 5 1/2 games behind Chicago.

Cubs Are Beaten In 20 Innings, 8-7.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Andy High's angle with Taylor Douthett on second base, at dusk, settled the Wrigley field this evening, gave the St. Louis Cardinals an 8-to-7, 20-inning victory over the National league champions.

The battle was the longest played in the major leagues this season and brought to a climax a sizzling list of overtime games for the Cubs. Four hours and ten minutes of baseball left the members of both teams almost exhausted and even killed Cuyler walked in from left field at the finish, breaking his custom of sprinting for the Cub dugout.

With one out in the twentieth, Douthett singled and went to second as Sparky Adams was thrown out. High then caught one of Bob Osborn's pitches for a blazing single to center. Douthett and Cuyler went to first, nailed, attempting to stretch his hit into a double.

The Cardinals had the game all won in regulation time until Burleigh Grimes blew up in the seventh when the Cubs scored three times—two runs shy of clinching the season.

Grimes in the eighth and three more hits produced the tying runs and sent the game into extra innings.

Each team scored two in the fifteenth, the only really bad spots suffered by St. Louis' first five runs. Sunny Jim Bottomley rapped and scored third as High was thrown out. Malone went to first. Malone then hit.

Watkins doubled, scoring Bottomley. Jimmy Wilson singled to second in the cardinal run until the final overtime session.

Material From Freshman Team Boosts Grid Hopes at Mercer

ENDS, TACKLES CHIEF WORRY FOR RUSSELL

Has Great Ball Carrier in Walden; Good Passers Plentiful.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 28.—(AP)—An unbeaten freshman squad of 1929, together with a number of veterans and reserves from last year's varsity, will carry the hopes of Mercer University in the coming S. I. A. A. football campaign.

Lake Russell, Mercer's head coach, falls heir to one of the best yearling aggregations in the southland last year—a team which numbered Florida, Georgia and Oglethorpe among its victims.

REAL STAR.
In Pinky Walden, Russell believes he has one of the best ball carriers in S. I. A. A. ranks and the best broken field runner since Phoney Smith was in his prime at the Macon school.

Russell has a surplus of backfield material but has a problem ahead with his line, especially at end and tackle.

The Mercer coach will be able to put two first-class backfields in play, one probably consisting of Walden, quarterback; Matt and Cimperman, halfbacks; and Branch, fullback, and another with Lamson at quarterback, Harvey and Hollingsworth, halfbacks, and Poe, fullback.

Cimperman and Walden are both triple-threat artists. Both can pass and receive passes. The Poe-to-Lobetti pass was one of the best scoring plays the freshman had last season, and no doubt the pass will form one of Mercer's strongest offensive weapons this fall.

THE ENDS.
At end, Russell has rangy Charlie Lobetti and Ralph Rickerson, from the freshman ranks, and Johnson, a varsity reserve from last year.

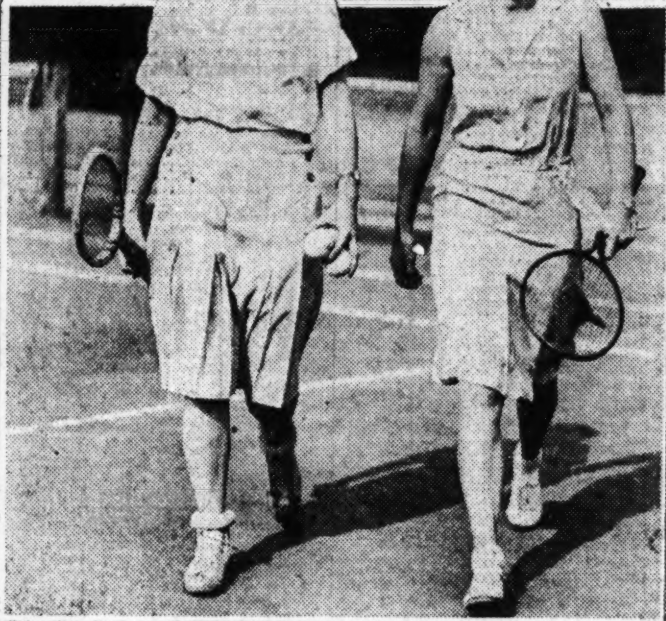

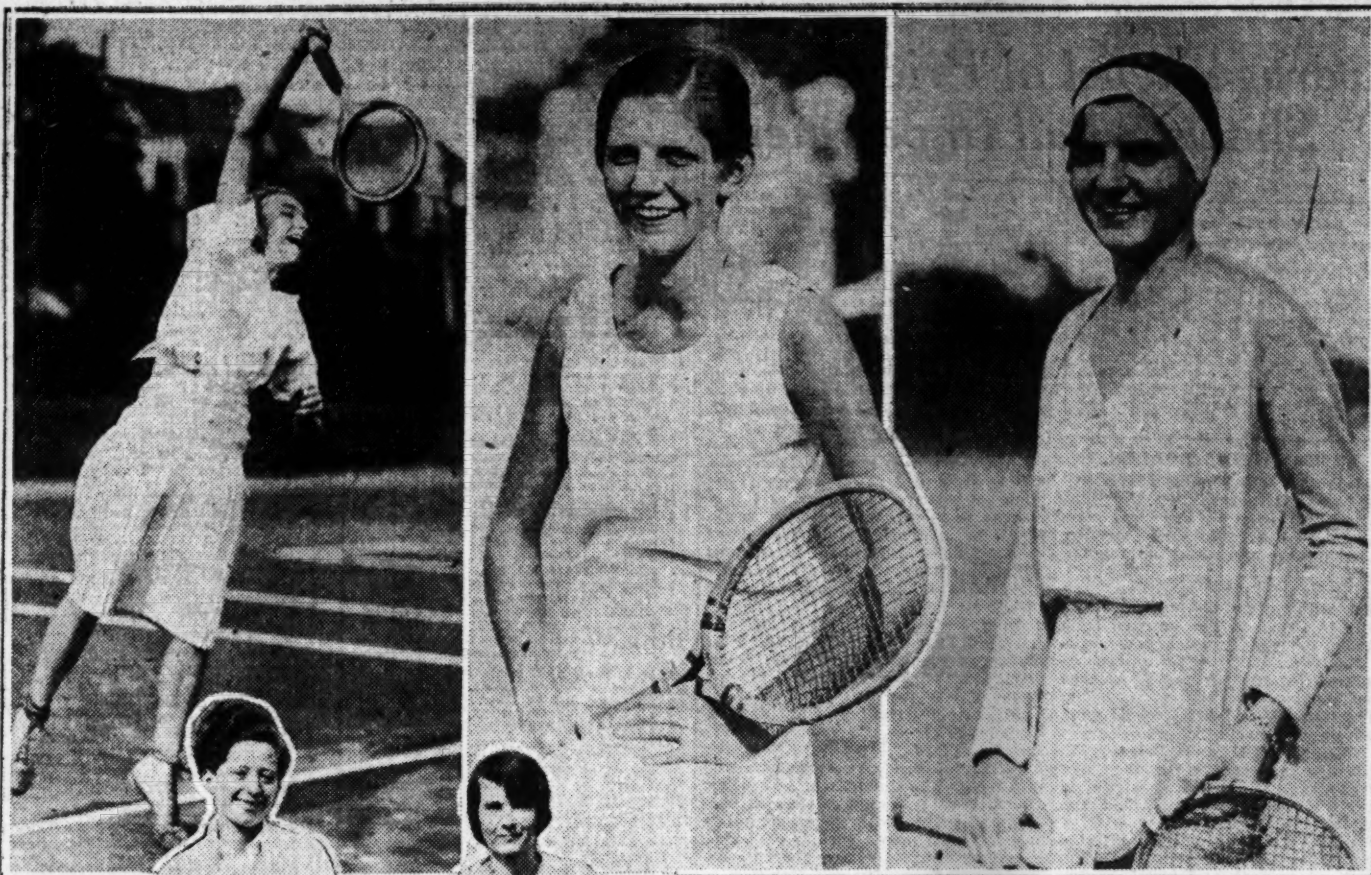

Lamar Plunkett, a varsity man; Fate Atchley from the frosh squad, and Wilder, a reserve from last year, form the material from which the tackles will be selected.

Waller, a returning veteran; Venable, Brannon, Bailey and Sperry and McNabb from the freshman squad will battle for the two guard positions, with Bob Smith probably at the pivot position.

Russell probably will use seven of his graduates from the 1929 freshman lineup at one time or another this season. This group includes Walden, quarterback; Bob Smith, center; Lobetti, end; Sperry, guard; Poe, fullback; McNabb, guard; Atchley, tackle, and Rickerson, end.

Mercer opens its season here on September 27 against Presbyterian of South Carolina. The Georgia game comes on October 4 at Athens.

Evangeline McLennan, upper left, is shown in her match which she lost to Julia Pickens, shown in the center panel, 6-1, 6-1. On the right is Gertrude Wigginton, who was eliminated by Mrs. E. H. Blackman, 6-4, 6-2. Mrs. J. S. Read and Miss "Bill" Davis are shown taking the court for their match which Miss Davis won, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. These matches were in quarter finals yesterday in the annual Georgia state tennis tournament. Photos by Kenneth Rogers, staff photographer.

THE LAST BLOWS OF SUMMER.

The last blows of summer are now almost over, concerning the scrap of the weak and the strong; And some are in briars—and some are in clover, For that is the way the world moves along.

The last blows of summer for dub and for duffer, For Sharkey and Schmeling—for Babe and for Hack— But why make the reader continue to suffer? The last blows of summer are now in the sack.

TOUCHING WOOD—BUT WHO CAN?

LAST fall the daily dispatches were full of words concerning one Barry Wood, of Harvard. It seems he was tossing passes all over the landscape and driving his team along after the manner of a high-class quarterback. As winter came along there was more gossip about the same Barry Wood in connection with Harvard hockey, if we recall the details. And here again he was a star.

Then spring arrived with its primroses and its base hits and once again the dispatches were relating the active maneuvers of the same Barry Wood on Harvard's baseball team where he was hitting and fielding up with the elect.

There will be no more about Mr. Wood, we thought, until another football season is on again. But this guess was entirely incorrect. In picking up the papers today we see where Barry Wood and a teammate gave Lott and Dugg, the national doubles champions, all they could handle at tennis at Longwood. And again Mr. Wood was extremely active, this time with a tennis racket.

There is little doubt that Barry Wood would be heard from at Merion, in the amateur golf championship, if this did not conflict with Arnold Horween's football practice. The trouble is, there are not enough months in a year for Barry Wood. It might be mentioned on the side that he is also an honor student, up around the head of his class, and that he is about as fine a sportsman as you would care to meet.

THE BRITISH CHANCE.

THE British polo team now has just a week in which to get ready for one of the hardest traveling, hardest walloping young polo teams that ever took the field.

Maybe the invaders can make the grade. But they will have to play entirely different polo from the type their predecessors played on the last trip over. No careful, safe, conservative tactics will have any chance at all against the power and speed and control of the American four. The team that came over three years ago would be crushed—something like 15 goals to 3, or 18 to 5.

Few would begrudge a British victory after so many years of failure and such hard trying. But there will be none of this feeling on the American side and only hard, driving, smashing polo will have even an outside chance. The last international matches were too one-sided to be even interesting. Half a dozen United States teams could have made a far better showing.

This next international, starting next Saturday, may be entirely different. But if so an entirely different type of polo will have to be played. One might as well expect to stand on the tee with a midiron against Bobby Jones using a driver as to try to win with the brand of polo Great Britain uncovered on her last trip across.

The British side must understand by now that it will be up against a dashing and a smashing outfit, always on the offensive; knowing what it is about.

THAT PENNANT RACE.

THERE should be a much better line on the National League pennant race after Labor Day. Here are the contests that will take place before the mob swings back to work next Tuesday:

CUBS—Friday, Saturday and Sunday, St. Louis at Chicago. Monday, Chicago at Cincinnati, two games.

GIANTS—Friday and Saturday, Brooklyn at New York. Sunday, Boston at New York. Monday, New York at Philadelphia, two games.

BROOKLYN—Friday and Saturday in New York. Sunday, Philadelphia in Brooklyn. Monday, Brooklyn at Boston, two games.

From the way this schedule runs the Giants and Dodgers have an easier march than the Cubs, who are up against two teams that have bothered them a lot. The Cubs should be at least five games ahead when they leave home Sunday night, for they spend almost the entire month of September on the road. So these next few days will be something worth watching if you happen to have one or both eyes adjusted upon the pennant race in the National League.

"It's a good thing," enters one reader, "that the British have no women's polo team or women skippers to sail a yacht." Which recalls the fact that Bobby Jones said he was just as well pleased that Joyce Wethered did not play in the British amateur at St. Andrews.

APPARENTLY Mr. Kipling had some inside dope when he made his poetic announcement concerning "the female of the species" in comparison with the male.

NOTHING to cover after this week but international polo, tennis, yacht races, golf championships and a world series for the next 35 days. And maybe one or two fights to help kill off a quiet evening.

ENTERPRISE AND SHAMROCK V.

HAROLD VANDERBILT, who is to sail his Enterprise against the Shamrock V for the America cup, has probably started more arguments at bridge than any other 10,000 people, despite the fact that bridge is about 80 per cent argument. As the founder and author of the Vanderbilt convention he brought in a new fundamental to the game that is still extremely popular.

He has also shown what he knows about boats. He is undoubtedly one of the best skippers, one of the keenest and one of the smartest.

The battle between the Enterprise and Shamrock V should be one of the most interesting tests in all the long history of yacht racing, provided, of course, the two yachts can get the type of weather that will give them a chance to a start.

Cecil Flowers Meets Battling C. C. Again

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 28.—So much dissatisfaction was shown with the decision of the fight here last night in which Battling C. C., of Jacksonville, defeated Cecil Flowers, of Atlanta, that the two colored welterweights have been rematched for a bout here about the middle of September.

The fans boomed the decision when the referee raised Battling C. C.'s hand. The return bout will be 10 rounds.

Kelly, with four for five, one a double, and Clark with three for five, one a double, were CECARS' batting stars. Clark also made a hit for one of CECARS' two earned runs.

Sales Fall 60 Per Cent Under Wednesday's Figure lowest price in two years on announcement of a 10 per cent wage reduction for the Atlantic Coast Lumber Co. The weekly brokerage showed a reduction of $23,000,000 to another low since 1927. As this further reduction occurred in a week in which the price index showed a gain of 2 points, it was interpreted as indicating that stocks were still passing liquid strong hands rather than marginal accounts. Demand for preferred shares probably reflected on overflows of the abundance of funds for the purchase of the bonds. The weekly federal reserve conditions showed a little improvement in the money market, but the price of money remained flat at 2 per cent.

Among the day's strong features, Sears-Robuck gained 4 points, and Delaware and Hudson jumped in a small turnover. Several pool operations that have been dormant for a few weeks were renewed in some of the specialties shares, apparently in an effort to stir up a little interest preparatory to the start of pre-holiday activity. The general price level, as measured by the index of 90 leading shares, ended the day virtually unchanged, the index showing a loss of 1-10 of a point. Trading was restricted by the approach of the Labor Day week-end closing, and total sales aggregated only $23,000,000, or only 60 per cent of the previous session's turnover.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE No. 41

Directs, watching the procession from the roof of her father's house, was filled with anxiety when she noticed that her fiancé, Maximus Praecursor, was not among the prisoners in the procession, for she knew that sometimes men who entered the dungeons of Caesar were never heard of again.

Custom and heredity had made her indifferent to the brutalities of the arena, but today, when she went to her father's loge, which was close to that of Caesar, she was trembling for the life of one she loved. Outwardly, however, she appeared calm, serene and beautiful as she awaited the opening of the games.

With the arrival of the Emperor, there emerged from one of the barred gates at the far end of the arena the head of the procession. There were wild lions and leopards, some of which were drawn in wheeled cages, while others were led by slaves. The beasts straggled ferociously at their leashes.

There were also two bull buffaloes and several cages in which were confined man-like apes. Captives and beasts were formed in solid phalanx in front of Sublatus, who addressed the prisoners, promising freedom and reward to the victors. Then, sudden and lowering, the prisoners and beasts were herded back to their dungeons and cages.

DAY IN FINANCE

By
R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Houston Oil broke 7 points in the early trading on rumors of further curtailment of Texas crude oil which would further reduce the earnings of the company. Copper shares also were sold. Leading shares, however, such as Steel, common, Gen. Washington, General Electric declined only a small fraction despite the weakness in oils and copper. Strength in General Electric and much to do with holding the general market strong. There appeared to be good buying in that stock on the growing belief that seasonal improvement in general trade is ahead. The stock market continues highly professional. The head of one large house should do anywhere from 100,000 to 150,000 shares daily in a 2,000,000-share day told your correspondent today that his daily turnover has been running recently only 75,000 shares or less. He said the daily turnover is now being done largely by floor members and a very few large professional traders off the floor acting through a few houses.

The average selling price of eight important steel finished products is now at a new low for 1920 at $45.52 against last year's high and low of $61.25 and $40.88, respectively. However, the Iron Age in its weekly review says that steel mills are turning down orders for distant delivery at existing prices and one producer has notified his customers that on September 15 prices of bars, plates and shapes will be increased.

Electric Bond & Share is buying stocks of affiliated companies in the open market, according to rumors heard here today in usually well informed quarters. It is understood, too, that good buying is going on in International Telephone & Telegraph on the belief that smaller earnings have been discounted and that with "overhead" now down larger earnings are ahead.

Rumors Say Electric Bond and Share Is Buying Stocks of Affiliated Companies in the Open Market. The Rumor's Reaction as Reserve Board Head Seems to Have Been Not Unexpected by "Inside" Bankers on the "Street."

A round of the financial district here today disclosed the fact that bankers usually on the inside of what is going on in the open market are not surprised at Wall Street at the overnight news that Roy A. Young had resigned as governor of the federal reserve board at Washington. In such quarters it was admitted that in serving as the executive head of the federal reserve system for the past three years, Young with a wife and two half-grown daughters, had felt the strain of maintaining his position in Washington where the cost of living is high, on $12,000 a year against the $25,000 received as governor of the federal reserve bank at Minneapolis. As governor of the federal reserve bank at Boston Young will receive $25,000 or $30,000. Bankers here say that the need for more income was a factor in Young's decision to resign as governor of the federal reserve board. However, in private talks, it is admitted that the real reason for Young's action is found elsewhere.

In his letter accepting the resignation of Young, President Hoover acknowledged "the great sacrifice" made the past three years adding, "You have the right to feel you have rendered public service. In very difficult times you have performed the important duties of your office with excellent judgment, tact and courage and I shall find it difficult to replace you."

Wall Street bankers usually on the inside believe that President Hoover meant every word he wrote in his letter accepting the resignation of Young. That, however, is the point in the real explanation being given for Young's resignation.
